A ROUND OF TALK.

Joys o' Winter.

When the corn is cribbed in safety and the ducks are flying high,
And the dead leaves thickly falling tells us winter draweth nigh;
When the snow-clouds gray and somber fly athwart the autumn skies—
Then our mouths begin to water for the mince and pumpkin pies.

"When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock"
It's a joy to hear the notice that it's half-past six o'clock—
Six p.m., of course we're meaning—and we rush to seize the prize, Juicy slabs of mother's pastry, good old mince and pumpkin pies.

All the Frenchified concoctions on the high toned bill of fare
We'll pass up in scorn and leave them to their glory lying there,
For at home upon the table is a sight to please our eyes
And our stomachs—fat and juicy home-made mince and pumpkin pies

Old Lucullus, history tells us, ate his the tongues of nightingales,
But such food before ma's pastry into airy nothing pales.
And I know that old Lucullus from his tomb would fain arise
If he knew the joys abiding in those mince and pumpkin pies.

Course, the first, a slice of pumpkin;
second course a slice of mince;
Third and fourth a repetition—nothing better I've seen since.
Breakfast, dinner, supper, 'tween times—nothing better 'neath the skies
Than these choicest gifts of winter, luclous mince and pumpkin pies.

When the mince is gently boiling and the oven's piping hot,
When the piecrust is made ready and the pumpkin's in the pot;
I prepare myself for feasting—greatest joy before me lies
In the shape of rich and juicy home-made mince and pumpkin pies.

RULES FOR VOTING—Among the rules adopted by the Democratic State Executive Committee for holding the State primary on November 6th is the following which reads: "In said election any known Democrat who will be a legal voter on the 6th day of November 1906, and who shall have registered as a Democrat (where registration is required by law), and who shall have voted for a Democratic nominee for Congress on November 6th, 1906, shall be entitled to vote in said primary, and it shall be the duty of the judges of election at each precinct to propound to the voter the question: Have you voted for the Democratic nominee for Congress today?" and if the voter shall answer in the affirmative he shall be allowed to vote but if he answers in the negative he shall not be allowed to vote in said primary. The resolution allowing young men who will be legal voters Novers 6th, 1907, to vote in said primary is in conflict with the statutes and shall be rescinded." It is claimed by some good authorities on such matters that the rule requiring the voter to state whether or not he voted for the Democratic nominee will cause trouble, inasmuch as it forces a voter to reveal how he votes and thus destroys the secrecy of the ballot. The committee made one mistake in passing a resolution allowing young men who will become of age before November 1907 to vote at the primary, but it wisely rescinded that. It seems to us that it would be a wise move to rescind this other rule.

GOOD ROADS AND MAIL—Those citizens who are interested in free rural mail service should also take an interest in good roads. It is announced that the government will look more carefully to the enforcement of its rules regarding the roads over which rural free delivery is established. The present requirement is: "Roads traversed shall be kept in good condition and be unobstructed by gates; there must be no unbridged creeks or streams not fordable at any season of the year." In many cases residents along proposed routes have made improvements that enable them to obtain rural delivery service, but sometimes the efforts to keep up the roads are relaxed. But the government has decided that unless the roads traveled by the carriers are properly maintained the service will be withdrawn. The Postoffice Department now calls on the carriers for reports on the roads, and will stop the service where the highways are bad. The government does not hesitate to discontinue a mail route if the roads are not kept in good shape and more routes are abandoned for that than any other reason. Washington county will soon have in operation seven rural routes covering a distance of 185 miles on public roads. These roads are generally under the supervision of the county authorities, but to a great extent individual citizens are responsible for their condition. Every citizen should lend a helping hand to good road conditions for the sake of rural routes if for no other reason.

NEW ENTERPRISES—Springfield is about to enjoy, let us hope a new era of new enterprises. A new creamery to cost $5,000 and to furnish a market for thousands of gallons of cream from the farmers and dairymen of the county is an assured thing. The money has already been subscribed, the company organized and a suitable site for the building will soon be selected. There is also talk of building a canning factory for the purpose of utilizing the fruits and vegetables grown on the farms of the neighborhood. These enterprises are to be built by home capital and managed on the co-operative plan. Among other enterprises in which the town stands in need is a home laundry. The NEWS-LEADER has for a long time advocated the organizing of a Commercial Club and now that these enterprises are on foot the necessity of such an organization is empasized more than ever.

Doctors Said He Would Not Live

Peter Fry, Woodruff, Pr., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not posibily live another month as there was no cure for me. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me by a friend and I immediately sent my son to the store for it, and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continue to improve until I was entirely well."

Taxpayers Notice.

Your taxes for 1906 are now due and the penalty will go on Nov 1. Under the new law which recently went into effect; after november 1st your taxes can not be paid to me and a tax warrant will be issued against you by the county clerk and executed within ten days thereafter making an additional cost to you of 18 per cent. Come before Nov. 1, and save cost of execution and sale. J. S. Osbourne, Sheriff of W. C.

Lost Faith.

O. M. Ballard, an applicant for postmaster of Danville, left his home at Faulconer five months ago and nothing has been heard of him since. He was working for N. I. Buster, the well known farmer and stockman, whose farm lies partly in this and Boyle counties. One day Mrs. Buster remarked that some of her turkeys were missing. The fowls had often strayed away before. Ballard said that he would take a look for them after dinner and he started out in his shirt sleeves, leaving the coat at the residence. The turkeys came home that night or the next morning, but nothing has since been heard of Ballard. His belongings are still where he left them five months ago and his coat still remains at the Buster home. Ballard spent considerable time in agitating the question of calling on Congress to enact laws more favorable to the tobacco raisers and less favorable to the tobacco trusts. He was a staunch Republican and last winter rode through the county seeking signatures to a petition requesting President Roosevelt to appoint him postmaster of Danville. He got his signatures out in the county but made no special effort to secure signers in the city. After a petitition of some length had been obtained he forwarded it to Washington. The President turned down his application and as a result some say he sought a home in Canada are under some other flag than the stars and stripes. A report has also been current to the effect that his mind had been affected for several months previous to his disappearance, and it is said that he had once been an inmate of the Lexington Insane Asylum. Some of his friends believe that he committed suicide in some out of the way place, but the prevailing impression is that he lost confidence in himself and the United States when he was refused the postmastership by the president. Ballard announced for Assessor of Boyle county four years ago on the Republican ticket but withdrew. He formerly lived in Harrodsburg and worked in a tobacco warehouse, and was an expert in his line. — Harrodsburg Herald.

Much Damage.

The heavy rains of the past week have done an immense amount of damage to the farmers in the western part of this county and in Washington. Those living along the creeks and rivers have suffered the greatest loss. A number of persons from that section who were in the city Monday said that the damage would ammount to hundreds of dollars, and coming as it did at this time, after the crops have been made and ready to be put in the barns, made it all the more serious, as some who had lost heavily of their corn and tobacco could ill afford the loss. In the Duncan vicinity Mr. C. W. Sims lost almost his entire crop of tobacco. Some of it was washed completely away, while the remainder was almost ruined by being covered with mud and water. Mr. B. A Massie, of the same section, also lost a great amount of his tobacco. A great deal of fencing has also been destroyed by the tide in the streams. Near Kirkland, in Washington county, the iron bridge which spans Beaver Creek, between Antioch and Leather's Store was lifted from its abutments and washed a mile down stream.

Chaplin river has also been on a tear and serious damage is reported from several sections.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

A Negro Shot To Death

Hopkinsville, Ky., -John T Goode, a farmer living six miles east of this place, shot and instantly killed Lindsey Leavel, a negro laborer living on an adjoining farm, this morning. Mr Goode came here at once and surrendered to the authorities. His statement is that the negro on yesterday visited his home during his absence and made improper remarks to his wife.

Mrs. Goode reported the matter to her husband on his return at night. This morning he took his gun, and found the negro digging potatoes in his garden, and told him he had come to kill him. Leavell began to protest that the other negro was the guilty person, but Goode fired three loads of shot into his body.

RURAL ROUTE CHANGES

Rural Mail Routes Out of Springfield Reorganized ---An Additional Route Put On.

Beginning November 16th there will be a reorganization and a change in schedule of the free rural mail service out of Springfield. The service is to be greatly improved and one entire new route, which takes in an important territory is to be established. The following are the changes to be made.

Route Number 2 is to be changed to run as follows: Beginning at Postoffice the carrier will go Northwest to city limits, thence Northwest on Louisville pike to the L. F. Clements corner, thence West to the R. L. Clements farm one quarter mile and retrace, thence Northwest on Louisville pike to Fredericktown, thence Northwest to Fredericks-town Post Office and return; thence Southeast and South to the Murphy corner, thence North east to the Cecil corner thence South to the St. Marys pike; thence Northeast to the Post Office. Total length of route 27 miles.

Route Number 3 will go as follows: Beginning at the Post Office the carrier will go North east to the city limits, thence Northeast to the Mackville Post Office, thence Southwest to Long Lick creek, thence Southwest to the Fitzgerald corner, thence South to the Springfield Post Office. Length of route 27¼ miles. Number of houses 157. It will be seen that the carrier will start out on this route and go direct to Mackville instead of out the Willisburg road as heretofore. This also means the discontinuance of Star Route carrier service as the Rural carriers will carry the through mail to Mackville

The new rout no. 5 will run as follows: Beginning at the post office the carrier will go northwest to St. Rose pike, thence southwest to the Cecil corner, thence northwest to Thos. Wheatley's corner, thence north to S T. Anderson's corner, thence west to the county infirmary corner, thence southwest to McIntire postoffice, thence in a westerly direction to Blinco, thence southwest to Gasburg, thence in a easterly direction to the Osborne corner, thence east to Shepherd's run, thence north to St. Mary's pike, thence north east to Springfield, Total length of route 27½ miles. number of houses 162.

Bardstown Telephones

A mass meeting of the citizens of Bardstown convened at the courthouse Monday evening and by a decisive vote instructed the City Council to stand by its original proposition made to the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company of $1.25 per month for residence telephones and $2.25 for business telephones. The Cumberland Company made a proposition to the Council of $1.25 on residenc telephones and $2.75 on business telephones and the Council submitted the proposition to the mass-meeting with the result given above. The mass meeting further endorsed the action of the Council in the telephone controversy and gave them a vote of confidence in any action they might take in regard to the matter in the future.

It has been suggested that the citizens of Bardstown erect a line within the town limits, and to furnish connection to rural part lines, as rapidly as they are constructed, and that other towns in the county do likewise, thus owning their own lines, being independent of future raising of rates by any company, and keeping about $8,000 to $10,000 annually in Nelson county that is now being paid to a foreign corporation. The Independent Long Distance Company proposes to furnish long distance connections for the tolls and to make connection in sixty days. It is said that the Cumberland Company proposes to remove its wires and poles as rapidly as possible and no doubt some definite action upon the part of the citizens will be taken in a short time.—Standard.

My Hair Ran Away

Don't have a falling out with your hair. It might leave you! Then what? That would mean thin, scraggly, uneven, rough hair. Keep your hair at home! Fasten it tightly to your scalp! You can easily do it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is something more than a simple hair dressing. It is a hair medicine, a hair tonic, a hair food.

All Want Such Men.

A New York employer closed a recent letter to Hapgoods, the national organization of brain brokers, with the following description of men he desired for several responsible position:

"Men who are not for sale; men who are honest and sound from center to circumference; true to the heart's core; men who will condemn wrong in friend or foe, in themselves as well as others; men whose consciences are as steady as the needle to the pole; men who will stand for the right if the heavens totter and reel; men who can tell the truth and look the world and the devil right in the eye; men who neither brag nor run; men who neither flag nor flinch; men who have courage without whistling for it and joy without shouting to bring it; men to whom the current of everlasting life runs still and deep and strong; men who know their place and fill it; men who mind their own business; men who will not lie; men who are willing to earn what they eat and perform what they are paid for doing."

Still $11,000.

The meeting of the Board of Control of the State Fair yesterday afternoon, which was to have been the last one, found the accounts of the treasurer not in condition to be closed and the final meeting was deferred until next Saturday, after the meeting of State Development convention at Winchester. It developed that additional receipts had kept pace with the disbursements so that the profits of the fair will remain at about $11,000. It was requested that the report of the treasurer should not be published, and, although Jacob W. Brigman had prepared copies for the newspapers, they were withheld and the final report will be the one to see the light of publicity.

The members of the board were so pleased by the success of the fair that much of the session was given over to the adoption resolutions directing that letters of thanks be written to those who are credited with the success of the enterprise. These letters will be written to Matt J. Winn, of the Jockey Club, thanking him for his courtesies; to John J. Telford, of the Board of Trade and chairman of the Transportation, for obtaining such favorable rates to the fair; to Lewis Y. Johnson, chairman of the Publicity and Promotion Committee of the fair, for his excellent work in that capacity to Capt Jacobs and the members of the Police Department for their services during fair week.

The date for the next meeting at which the report will be made to the State Board of Agriculture was fixed by resolution. After the next meeting the Board of Control will stand adjourned until there is further call for its services. The following members were present at the meeting in the Commercial Club offices yesterday afternoon; Hubert Vreeland, W. R. Moarman, Cald Norton, C. B. Norton, L. H. Hudson and George L, Danforth —Courier-Journal.

An Unjust Law.

Mr. J. Mark Worten an attorney of Paducah brought suit against the Register Publishing Co., of Paducah, in the Livingston circuit court for $50 000 damages for alleged libel. After an expensive trial of about two weeks, Judge Gordon gave peremptory instructions, and asked the jury to return a verdict of $1,000 against the Register Pub. Co.

Remember that both of these parties reside in Paducah, yet under the law it was brought in Livingston county. The libel bill which was before the last legislature that undertook to correct this injustice against newspapers by compelling all such suits to be brought in the county where the newspaper is located. But this just and important bill was defeated by one vote. Hence in this one instance the injustice of the law no doubt cost the Register Pub. Co, between $500 and $1,000 more than it would have cost if the suit had been brought in the county where both parties reside.—Mayfield Messenger.

Meade Goes "Wet."

Brandenburg, Ky., Oct. 6.—Special—An unofficial count of the local option election in Meade county today gives the "wets" the scant majority of five votes out of some 1,600 or 1,700 estimated to have been cast. The "wets" held jollification meetings to-night.

The election was a hot one Women sang on the streets, and during the afternoon the church bells were rung by those furthering the fight of the "drys."

Paris Green

The news from the tobacco fields is to the effect that the leaves are dropping off of the stalk. This is said to be in instances where Paris green was used freely to kill tobacco worms that prey upon the leaves. The rains have washed the poison down the stem to the stalk and its deadly effect is to rot the stem from the stalk before the plant matures. It is evident that the crop has been damaged to a certain extent by a too liberal use of Paris green; many farmers applying it without any adulteration, or mixing flour with it.

What effect this is going to have on the sale or marketing, remains to be seen. Farmers will in any event have to abandon the use of this stuff in the future, and discover some other way of coping with the worms, if the labor cannot be had to catch them.

There is one other sure and much cheaper remedy which farmers neglect at the proper time, because the necessity for prompt and co-operative action is overlooked or not forced upon them. Why cannot planters as they are now organized, agree to take uniform action, and use cobalt in the spring to destroy the fly, or miller, that comes early, reproduce themselves?

The glut of worms have been scarce the past few years because of much fall fallowing of land and the hard winter freezes destroying the crysilis in the earth.

This fall the earth will be literally filled with matured tobacco worms formed into crysilis to come out in showers of flies next spring, unless the industrious farmers fallow their land turning up the crysilies to be destroyed by the winter freezes.

This, however, is not to be depended upon, and the sure way is to organize for war by the use of cobalt. Save Jimpson seed, make rich beds or rows of their quick growth, and systematically kill the flies.—Ky., Observer.

Thirty Dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wright, who live near Bradfordsville, returned Wednesday from Mercer county, where they spent a week with relatives. While leaving the train at Harrodsburg the day of their arrival there, Mrs. Wright lost her pocketbook, which contained thirty dollars. She did not notice her loss for about five minutes, when a diligent search was made for the treasure which, as yet, she has failed to find the least trace of. The loss worried Mrs. Wright greatly who declared she would never again carry money in a pocketbook swinging from her arm. Mr. Wright, who had just enough change left to get back to Lebanon on, consoled her by saying "there was no use crying over spilt milk."—Enterprise.

Danger From The Plunge

There's grave danger from the plague of Coughs and Colds that are so prevalent, unless you take Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, Mrs. Geo. Walls, of Forest City, Me., writes: "It's a Godsend to people living in climates where coughs and colds prevail. I find it quickly ends them. It prevents pneumonia, cures la grippe, gives wonderful relief in Asthma and Hay Fever and makes weak lungs strong enough to ward off consumption, coughs and colds. 50c and $1. Guaranteed by C. J Haydon's drug store. Trial bottle free.

Valley Hill.

Mrs. John Kays and daughter of Polin were in our midst Wednesday.

Miss Bettie Mock, who assisted Mrs. W. F. Moran, during her recent illness, returned to her home at the bridge last week.

Mr. Henry Crouch, of near the Bridge was in our midst Wednesday.

Miss Imogene Goatley, who has been seriously ill of typhoid fever, is convalescent at this writing.

It seems that a first class thief struck our section last week. A large patch of green beans and tomatoes belonging to Mrs. Burgess Pinkston was raided, and Mrs. S. T. Hardin had a sack of clothing, which had been prepared for washing, stolen on Monday, while Mr. W. B. Ballard lost two good braces and a couple of bits.

As usual the circus fever struck our section last week and everyone was wild in a sense to attend the 'Old Virginia Show," in town Thursday. However work was of such a nature that many were compelled to stay at home and enjoy themselves with a day's labor, while those that did attend enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent.

The wedding festivities resulted in a cutting affray last Saturday night, in which Clem Cutsinger and Palmer Cheatham participated. Cutsinger cut Mr. Cheatham's throat, and the gash came near reaching vital organs. Mr. Cheatham is doing nicely after having his wounds attended by Dr Sneham, of Maud, who found it necessary to take seven stitches in order to close and prevent bleeding.

Misses Madge and Bessie Lair of Louisville, are visiting their mother at this place this week.

S. G. Reddix and wife dined at Elm Hill Sunday.

Harry Derringer and Samuel Grigsby visited near Chaplin Sunday.

Mr. Ab Jones and Miss Arla Keeling, were married at Chaplin, Saturday and warmly received by friends here Saturday evening.

By request of Mr. Harry Derringer, I wish to correct the statement in regard to the fire that originated in his barn last week He says it is positively untrue.

Incessant rains during the past two weeks have caused many farmers to have his blues. Much tobacco has been ruined in the patch and corn is rotting. Not being heavy enough to turn downward the water ran into the shuck and rotted it the base of the ear.

I would present the editor with a dozen ears of the finest corn he has ever yet seen if—I had it,

Mr. J. E Shelby sold during the past week from his extra herd of Duroc Jerseys some of the finest hogs we have seen. To Mr. Tom Snider of Chaplin two females and one male. Price $12 per head. Also two gilts to Mr. Will Snider at $12. Mr. Will Hays, of Bloomfield, purchased one male shoat at $10. These are the finest stock hogs ever owned in this section.

If at first you don't succeed try try the News Leader.

The railroad company is up against a stone wall when they try to defeat Hon. C. C. McChord. It is much easier to defeat W. J. Bryan.

Town fever has struck our section. Illinois fever Mooresville, scarlet fever Maud, circus fever Springfield and political fever the state in general.

If Mr. Noe was a Republican it would be equally as hard to find a man who would pit against him.

Quite interesting indeed to know that your humble scribe is compared to "For-get me-nor," for I assure you when he measures you by his half bushel its correct, or more so than conceivable, notwithstanding the fact that Thorn Hill isn't represented excessively in our columns, it is very enterprising. They sell anything you want, even expert swimmers, who swim the creek every time it rises just to show the girls how green they are. I guess For-get me not goes along and carries the clothes. Uno.

Blood Poisoning

results from chronic constipation which is quickly cured by Dr. King's New Life Pills. They remove all poisonous germs from the system and infuse new life and vigor: cure sour stomach, nausia, headache, dizziness and colic, without griping or discomfort. 25c. Guaranteed by C. J. Haydon, druggist.

The Tatlers.

Tatham Springs

We are glad to report little Clarence Carpenter better, after a serious case of pneumonia, but are sorry to learn that Asa Foster is very sick with typhoid fever.

The protracted meeting closed at this place last Wednesday, Oct 3. We are glad to say we had a great meeting under the the management of our pastor, Rev. Hatchett, assisted by Rev. Booth of Taylorsville. There were thirty added to the church, 25 baptized and 5 by letter. Everyone was well pleased with Rev Booth, and all were sorry to bid him farewell, but they paid him the neat little sum of $99 and bade him good bye inviting him back at any time he wanted to come.

Mr. Charles Burkhead and wife, of Brush Grove, were the guests of their son and daughter, Silas Burkhead and wife last wednesday.

Fashion Hints.

Bright yellow gloves are a new fancy. They are thought particularly chic with black tailor frocks.

Quite the smartest rainy day coat is a black and white checked silk—reinforced, of course—trimmed with black satin collar and cuffs and big white pearl buttons.

For Feminine Comfort.

Charming effects in negligees can be realized with the daintily figured challis and inexpensive silks, not to mention the many pretty washing fabrics of which no one need deny herself so pleasing an accessory. The sack shown has a few tucks at the neck front, a raneful collar, which may be made very attractive with lace or ribbon, and long, short or flowing sleeves. The girdle around the waist may be omitted if a loose flowing sack is desired.

A CHARMING NEGLIGEE.

Satin In Favor.

Satin is greatly in evidence as a trimming fabric and in combination with dull luster cloths and silks; likewise satin surfaced weaves of various sorts for entire costumes, this by way of contrast, trimmed with dull surfaced cloths or velvet.

Bird Jewelery.

The predominant pattern in jewelry now being sold is the bird, which appears in brooches, ornaments for the hair, belts, buckles and hairpins.

"Nig" Perrine.

A Columbus (O.) newspaper says: "Washington surely has picked up a lively ball player in 'Nig' Perrine of Kansas City. He is a real star if his habits do not get the worst of him. Perrine has been guilty of looking on the wine at unreasonable hours since he came into his fortune, and too much money may be his ruin."

Baseball Injuries.

Injuries have been so frequent this season that only fourteen players in the entire American league circuit have been able to participate in every game that has been played by their respective clubs. The Athletics and St. Louis have been the luckiest in freedom from injuries.

Armour Booms Stahl.

Manager Armour of Detroit has many kind words for Jake Stahl, saying that he had the rough edges knocked off him as a leader and that as the Washington club had paid for this education it would be foolish to drop him just at a time when he was getting to know all

John N. Kelly has rented the use of the Springfield Opera House for the season and will on or about November 1st, open a first class skating rink. A large number of ball bearing, rubber cushion skates of the very latest pattern have been ordered and the rink will be fitted out with all conveniences. Johnny Kelly is a popular and deserving young man and his many friends predict for him success in his new undertaking.

The big land and stock sale of Clarkson & Haydon was well attended yesterday. The farm, which was divided into four tracts, was sold as follows: The old homestead place containing 183 acres was sold to Mr. T. Scott Mayes at $66.15 per acre. Tract designated as no. 1 and no. 4 in the catalogues and containing 130 and 137 acres were sold to Mr. John R. Barber at $40 and $33 per acre. Mr. Byron Croak became the purchaser of the remaining tract of 96 acres at $27 per acre.

Remarkable Cow.

Mr. G. W. Clements is the owner of a cow with a remarkable record. The cow is only six years old and yet has just given birth to her seventh calf All of the calves are fine and healthy. In her second and third year the cow gave birth to twins. A remarkable feature about the seventh calf is that it has the mark of the figure seven in its forehead that being the only white spot on it. Mr. Clements prizes his cow very highly.

Curtsinger Cuts.

Clem Curtsinger who is not unknown in the local courts used his knife on Palmer Cheatham on last Saturday night at a wedding celebration at the home of Mr. Ed Cheatham near Mooresville. The particulars of the affair could not be learned, but it is said that Cheatham was acting as peacemaker in a general row when he received his wound. The wound was a very close call for the man's life as it laid bare the large arteries. Dr. Sheban attended, the wounded man and took several stitches in the wound.

Medical Society Meets.

A very interesting meeting of the Washington County Medical Society was held at the Court House this place on Monday. The entire meeting was devoted to a discussion of typhoid fever. Dr. P. S. Barbour, of Louisville read a paper on "Typhoid in Infants," Dr. Thornton, of Lebanon, presented an able paper on "Prevention of Typhoid," and Dr. Crume spoke on the treatment. A discussion of the subject followed which was joined in by Dr. Hopper, of Perryville, Drs. Ray, Smock and others. The meeting was the most enjoyable in the history of the society.

Lecture Course.

The citizens of the town and vacinity are to have a rare musical and literary treat this winter. Mr. Theo Campbell and Prof. George Colvin have made arrangements with some of the best lecturers and impersonators before the public to entertain our people with what has charmed the elect of the leading cities and towns in the country. Among the entertainers who will appear at the opera house, at dates that will later be advertised are: Hon. Charles A. Towne, a lawyer of National reputation, Congressman from Duluth, Minn., styled by our neighbor, J. Proctor Knott, "the zenith city of the insalted seas." Earnest Wray O'Neal a brilliant lecturer comes with the best recommendations as a platform speaker and entertainer. Homer T. Wilson is not a stranger to us, having previously delivered two lectures in the opera house, wining the hearty appreciation of his audinences each time. The musical loying public has been provided for by securing the Elma B. Smith Company, composed of Miss Elma Smith, imitator of children, birds and animals, supported by Miss Merle Tallotson contralto singer, Mr. Cecil Burleigh violinists and Miss Agnes Ambrose pianist. The first entertainment will be given sometime in November, the date to be given later. Season tickets can be secured at $2.

Death of Irvine Wayne.

Mr. Irvine Wayne, a former resident of Springfield and who married Miss Alice Noe, daughter of Mr. C. W. Noe of this place, died at the home of his father in Lebanon Tuesday afternoon. The deceased had been a sufferer from a complication of diseases for several years and his death was not unexpected. He was a quiet, gentlemanly young man and of industrious habits. Mr. Wayne was about 32 years old. About six years ago he was married to Miss Alice Noe who with one child survives him. The funeral takes place at Lebanon this morning.

Agricultural Motors.

In the early months of 1902 what proved to be the first successful gasoline agricultural motor appeared, contesting at nearly all of the great agricultural competitions of the season in England and carrying off the gold medals from the horse in every contest.

Plowing proved to be the first phase of farm labor to which the agricultural motor was introduced and at which four years ago it made its initial reputation. For a plowing test among horses, steam power and the gasoline motor two and three-quarter acres of very heavy clay soil were selected. It was a condition that the furrows were to be nine inches wide and six inches deep. In doing the work nine horses, three to a plow, with three drivers and three boys, did the work at a total cost of $8.28, or at the rate of $3.68 per acre. By steam power the total cost of plowing the same area amounted to a total of $9.68, or $4.08 per here, and with the gasoline motor the cost totaled $4.44, or at $1.97 per acre. For plowing purposes a three furrowed plow is invariably used, except in heavy clay soils, where a couple of furrows prove sufficient.—Technical World Magazine.

For Eczema of Horses.

First give a physic—one ounce each of aloes, soda and powdered ginger. Dissolve these in one-half pint of boiling water, add one-half pint of cold water and give the whole as a drench. After the physic has operated have ready four ounces each of pulverized saltpeter and copperas, divide into twenty-four powders and give one powder in a small bran mash morning and night. Wash the affected portions of the skin with a solution of one ounce of carbonate of potash in one quart of water, rub it well in and then wash it off with warm water, keeping the animal warm until dry. For the itching wash the parts affected with a solution of one-half ounce of sugar of lead and two ounces of laudanum in one quart of water. You may also give as a tonic, if it appears to be necessary, one ounce of Fowler's solution of arsenic once daily in a bran mash and continue for several weeks.—Atlanta Constitution.

Feeding the Poultry.

Never overfeed any of your poultry. An excess of feeding is next to starvation in injurious results. When poultry are overfed they become uselessly fat and unable to move about as they should. These conditions produce lethargo and death. Many fowls drop from the roost at night from the effects of being overfed. Internal fat produces heart trouble and kills as well. When a hen is too fat, she should go into the pot for the family table. Yet all poultry should be kept in good strong, vigorous conditions with sufficient food to make them thrifty and attractive.—Feather.

Cost and Results of Arsenate Spray.

As a result of spraying experiments at the Illinois experiment station it was found that four times spraying with arsenate of lead at a cost of 17 cents a tree increased the yield of the apple orchard about one-half and the average size of the fruit about one-fifth and so improved the quality of the apples that they were worth two and a half to three times as much as if the orchard had not been sprayed. Orchards in the section indicated are much infested with the apple curculio, and the spraying was successful in destroying these.

Keep Only the Best Stock.

Every farmer should constantly endeavor to keep his stock up to the best possible standard of excellence and value by getting rid of every unprofitable animal and supplying its place with another that is better. If this practice is closely followed and continued efforts made for improvement the farmer will soon find the most perceptible advance is bei made. Keep the best of whatever breed or kind for the farm.

The Hog House.

Farrowing pens should be supplied with the fenders which prevent the sows crushing the pigs and should be built so that the attendant may lend assistance if necessary both with convenience and safety. By having all the hogs under one roof handling becomes simpler and in case of bad weather much more convenient.

Deep Plowing.

Land should be broken from eight to twelve inches. Such as has not been well broken should be broken every year one or two inches deeper until you get to the maximum, which I consider to be twelve inches, with six inches beyond as subsoil.—D. Dickinson in Southern Cultivator.

Removing Stumps.

In burning out stumps dig a large hole at and under the windward side of the stump and fill the hole with dry wood, straw and chips. Set on fire and cover with sods and soil, leaving a small opening close to the stump as a chimney.

From the Falcon

Mr. Joseph Rally died suddenly in this city yesterday. He came to town in the forenoon in apparent good health and went to the Brinton House for his dinner. While at the table became very ill and fell over in the floor and expired in a very few minutes. The remains were removed to Bosley & Barr's undertaking establishment and from there were taken to his home near Calvary. The funeral will be conducted from the Catholic church at that place this morning. Mr. Rally was 76 years old and is survived by three children, Messrs. John and Louis and Miss Mary Joe Rally, and one step son, Mr. Sam Spalding.

If the ordinance making it unlawful for minors to enter a saloon, passed some time ago, was enforced it would be better for everybody. The parties concerned pay no attention to it whatever—and never did. By the grand jury has finished its work it will have "fixed" the saloon men to the tune of more than $1,000, for selling to minors.

The Farmer's Institute that was to have been held here Friday and Saturday was, at the last moment, postponed indefinitly on account of the horse sale and the circus here on those days. Mr. Vreeland said the meeting was to important to have anything detract the interest of the farmer from it and that he would announce a later date as soon as proper arrangements could be made.

Miss Mattie Farmer, daughter of Mr. James Farmer of the New Markes neighborhood, died Sunday after a weeks illness with typhoid fever. The funeral services were held at the Mulldraugh Hill church Monday morning by Rev Farmer and the remains were laid to rest in the New Market cemetery. Deceased was about 30 years of age and was highly esteemed in her community.

Mr. Frank Mulvey and sister, Miss May, and Mrs Julia P. Adkins were on their way to the horse show in Louisville Wednesday night when a foot pad grabbed a purse containing about $175 worth of diamonds and $35 in cash, from the latter. Mr. Mulvey gave chase for a distance of three squares, but the man proved an expert runner and made his escape. Mr and Miss Mulvey are brother and sister of Mrs. John Clements of this city.

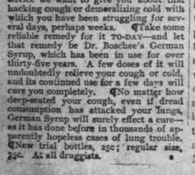

Makes Homely Woman Pretty.

No woman no matter how regular her features may be can be called pretty, if her complexion is bad. A Slick Thief.

Mrs Parker Morton who conducts a restaurant on Court street came very near losing a nice sum of money Monday. In the morning a well dressed stranger entered his place of business and representing himself as being an agent of one of the large tobacco factories engaged Mr. Morton in conversation. He displayed an elegan gold watch and diamond ring in the course of the conversation and later on came back and told Mr. Morton he had lost some money the night before in that

"DO IT TO-DAY!"

"And to think that ten months ago I looked like this! I owe it to German Syrup."

The time-worn injunction: "Never put off 'till to-morrow what you can do to-day," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it to-day." That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it TO-DAY—and let that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. E. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

interesting game poker and asked Morton to advance him thirty-five dollars on the watch and ring. Mr. Morton gladly consented and saw the man place the watch and ring in an envelope. The next morning in examining the watch he found it to be of the brassy sort, and immediately went in pursuit of the smooth individual. He boarded a train for Lexington and the second man he saw after arriving there was the thief. He at once jumped on him and demanded his money. The man turned it over to him and then put up such a pitiful tale that Mr. Morton did not have the heart to prosecute him and so let him go. —Anderson News.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustrchian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

40,000 Acres For One Wheat Farm

Houston, Texas.—Grant Robinson, of St. Paul, Minn., has purchased 40,000 acres of land in Presidio County, which he will devote to the culture of macaroni wheat on a scale the largest ever attempted in the world. Extensive preparations are now going forward for the consummation of the plans of the capitalist. Seed for planting will be brought to this country from the Volga region of Russia.

The field will be cultivated on the very latest and most improved method of wheat farming. Monster stake plows will be utilized in breaking up the land; in fact all the latest types of farming machinery will be used on the plantation.

Mr. Robinson proposes to have the largest and best managed wheat farm in the world. He will build a system of tenant houses and supply the wants of his laboring men from a commissary. A school will be built for the children of the laboring as well as churches, etc. The farm is near Valentine accessible to the railroad and has proven under tests to be admirably adapted to the culture of macaroni wheat.

Can you win? You realize that to win in anything these days requires strength, with mind and body in tune. A man or woman with disordered digestive organs is not in shape for a days work or a days play. How can they expect to win? Kodol For Dyspepsia contains the digestive juices of a healthy stomach and will put your stomach in shape to perform its important function, of supplying the body and brain with strength building blood. Digests what you eat, relieves indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, palpitation of the heart and constipation. Sold by the Red Cross Drug Store.

Example of Thrift.

An effort is being made by some of the citizens of the hustling little city of Bradfordsville to form a stock company for the purpose of establishing an overall factory at that place. The promoters are meeting with success with the venture and already more than one half of the total amount of stock required has been subscribed. It is thought that the full amount necessary—about $3000—will soon be raised. Mr. R. L. Weatherford will have charge of the plant if it is established.

A similar factory was started at Bradfordsville a year or two ago, and from the first proved successful. The business increased so rapidly that the company found it necessary to enlarge the plant and seek a place where shipping facilities were greater, and a few months ago the factory was removed to Winchester.—Enterprise.

Enemies Meet.

Dan Divine, a west-ender, used a knife on William Gill, the painter, in Howser's saloon Monday. An old grudge existed between the men and when they met both opened their knives. It is said Andy Divine, of Washington county, threw his arms about Gill and prevented his using his knife while Dan Divine cut him several times about the face and head inflicting painful wounds. Some months ago Garfield Divine, son of Dan, and Gill fought a battle royal on College street, and this engendered the bad feeling. They will be tried Saturday.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Farmers Take Notice.

Bourbon Hog Colera Remedy is the very best hog remedy in the world. Dreaded "Cow Tick."

Glasgow, Ky.—Quite a serious problem confronts the farmers and stock raisers of Cumberland county, and the same state of affairs is feared will exist in this county in a short time, as this is one of the bordering counties to Cumberland. The "cow tick," which has been doing such deadly work in Tennessee, has made its appearance in Cumberland county and the situation is by no means a pleasant one at this time.

For some time, government inspectors have been at work and, noting the existence of "cow tick" among cattle, have quarantined the county and placed a restriction on owners to sell or remove infested stock, under penalty of having such confiscated and the owners subject to a heavy fine. The "tick" was brought into the county on cattle from Tennessee, and is a knock-out to the cattle trade from that section.

Despite the quarantine and all other precautions which are being taken, it is greatly feared that the adjoining counties will be invaded with these pests from the fact that in the dying of one grown tick is put the breeding of hundreds of new ones. Cattle thus ravaged are thrown into "Texas fever," which is contagious and much dreaded by cattle raisers.

NEW SHORT STORIES

Surprised President Cleveland.

During the second Cleveland administration Secretary of State Gresham called at the White House, accompanied by a young man who had been appointed consul at Triest on the recommendation of the secretary. The appointee had made a visit to the capitol to thank the president in person for the honor and to inform him that he desired to decline the appointment. He had so informed the secretary of state, who said to him, "You must make known your declination to the president, and I will take you over to the White House."

When the secretary presented the young man to the president the appointee thanked the president and tendered his resignation.

"Mr. Secretary," said the president, "this is quite unusual. I don't know

Home of Swamp-Root.

"HOW DID YOU LIKE THE PLACE?"

when such an incident has come to my notice. Have you any other candidates like this?"

The secretary said he had no explanation to make, as the young man had simply said he did not wish to accept.

"Young man," said the president, addressing the secretary's friend, "I accept your resignation as consul to Trieste and appoint you consul general to St. Petersburg."

The announcement staggered the young man and the secretary as well.

"Mr. President," said the secretary, "this gentleman did not expect another tender after his declination of your first."

"I don't suppose he did," the president replied, "and that is why I make the second appointment. I want to return the surprise."

The second tender, however, was declined.

A few years afterward, when Cleveland was in private life, the man whom he had twice honored met him at a dinner in New York. When the repast was over and the guests were being presented to the ex-president, the young man in question reminded Cleveland that he had bestowed him with an appointment.

"How did you like the place?" asked Mr. Cleveland.

"I did not accept," was the reply, "and then you gave me a second appointment."

"Ah, and how did you like that?"

"I also declined, Mr. President," was the reply.

"Let me shake your hand again," said Cleveland. "I have a recollection of some Democrats who declined once, but I do not recall just now that any one ever did it twice."—New York Tribune.

His Votes Were Elsewhere.

During the canvass of his state in 1826 to gather votes enough to send him to the lower house of congress Nicholas Longworth went to the western end of his county to become acquainted and to capture votes. Now, the town of Harrison is partly in Indiana and partly in Ohio, the center of the main thoroughfare being the dividing line. Going to a store, Mr. Longworth made himself very agreeable with the proprietor, bought cigars for the crowd, lolled every one and then asked if they were all going to vote for him. There was a long, loud laugh, and when it was over the Ohioan asked:

"What is so funny?"

"Oh, nothing," remarked the proprietor, "except that you are on the Indiana side of the street. Your Ohio voters are across the way."

Mr. Longworth was heard to mumble a stricture on towns that are on the dividing line, at the same time making a quick jump back into Ohio.—Pittsburg Press.

A Deadhead.

Francis Wilson was talking at the Players' club about the ignorance of dramatic literature that is too prevalent in America, according to a writer in the Springfield (Mo.) Republican.

"Why," said Mr. Wilson, "a company was playing 'She Stoops to Conquer' in a small western town a last winter when a man without any money, wishing to see the show, stepped up to the box office and said:

"'Pass me in, please.'

"The box office man gave a loud, harsh laugh.

"'Pass you in? What for?' he asked.

"The applicant drew himself up and answered haughtily:

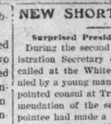

"'What for? Why, because I am Oliver Goldsmith, author of the play.'

"'Oh, I beg your pardon, sir,' replied the other in a shocked voice as he hurriedly wrote out an order for a box."

What a Place to Sleep!

What is stated to be the most elaborate bedstead ever produced in Birmingham has just been turned out to the order of an Indian rajah. The style is what is known as the crown canopy and is of the best brass throughout. It stands to the height of fifteen feet, is eight feet long and six feet wide and will cost close upon four figures. Surmounting each of the upright pillars is a bird with open wings, and projecting from the sides are brackets carrying bronze figures symbolical of the seasons. Over the head of the bed is a bronze figure bearing a white metal circular plaque with enamel portraits of the king and queen, the Prince and Princess of Wales and Prince Edward of Wales. On another plaque of bronzed brass are photographs of Lord Beaconsfield, Mr. Gladstone, Lord Salisbury, Lord Rosebery, Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain. At the foot of the bed are a clock and a barometer and beneath them a bronze inscription plate bearing the title of the potentate for whom and under Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble prays upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of this infirmity is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unfortunate trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

A Large Connection.

A Chinese cook is one of the homes across the bay from San Francisco was terribly worried about his cousins who were in the burning town. Slug Knew that Chinatown had been destroyed. He had tried to go across to rescue his relatives, but nobody was allowed to land.

He went about his duties with lagging footsteps and mournful face. For two days he ate nothing, and the sympathy of the entire family was extended to him in his trouble. At last he appeared one morning at breakfast time with a face wreathed in smiles.

"Me found cousins," he announced joyfully.

On being questioned he said that they were lodged in the two rooms which he rented for his own use in the lower part of the town. They were well and he was "velly happy." He took forty pounds of rice to them that they might not be hungry.

"But, Sing, how many cousins have you? Forty pounds seems a great deal."

He smiled his charming oriental smile and spread his hands, "Me eighty cousins."

Huge Ranches of Mexico.

Ranches in Mexico are of no mean size. Ex-Governor Terrazas of Chihuahua has 17,000,000 acres. The Zuloaga family is said to hold 5,000,000. Properties of 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 acres are not uncommon. Among the Americans who have large ranches may be mentioned Fleming & Ross, the Riverside Cattle company, with 2,000,000 acres and a fine herd of Herefords; Phoebe Hearst of California, who has a magnificent place west of Minaca; the Millers and the three Mormon colonies. Gordon, Ironsides & Ferris, a Canadian company, has 1,000,000 acres; Lord Beresford, a relative of the admiral, has a large ranch, where he raises fine horses; another Englishman named Irmistead owns a large property. Smaller places of from 40,000 acres upward are numerous. The price of land now runs from 50 to 75 cents gold per acre, with a strong tendency to rise.—Modern Mexico.

Picture Induces Hay Fever.

In Paris there is just now proceeding a discussion on hay fever, concerning which an amusing instance of the capricious nature of the infection is related. A lady was quite proof against catching the sneezings of hay fever from either hay or any other flower or plant put near her. The mere sight of a rose used to set her sneezing violently. Knowing her weakness, she carefully avoided these flowers. But one day she carelessly stopped before a still life painting representing a basket of roses. Almost instantly she was seized with a sneezing fit. Clearly imagination has its part in the case.—London Globe.

English Remarks on Ice.

The great fault which Americans have to find with England when they come over here for a visit in the summer is the absence of ice. In the states ice is a cult. Wherever the traveler may be, even if he is in the backwoods, he finds ice. But in England the thing is looked upon as an almost unobtainable luxury. "Oh, no, sir," says the English purveyor of drink with an amused smile, "we've got no ice. But you will find it nice and cool." Nice and cool means that an egg would probably boil in it. No wonder Americans say that England "cuts no ice."—London Globe.

Decline of Beer Drinking.

Local patriots in Munich are dejected at the latest statistics concerning the consumption of their famous beer within their own borders. Only a few years ago they proudly boasted that the annual consumption per head of the population was 315 gallons. This has now sunk to the mere bagatelle of sixty-five gallons. The shrinkage is attributed to the gradual spread of temperance principles, to the antibeer propaganda in public schools and to the fact that employers of labor are ceasing to give free beer to their work people.—London Telegraph.

For Schoolgirls.

A very trig little outfit for the schoolgirl is shown here, which is well suited to home construction. The coat may be made of brown broadcloth or cheviot, with a collar of velvet in a darker shade. The buttons, which close in and trim the sleeves, should be of the cloth or velvet. The skirt is a straight gathered one, the most practical style for general wear. The breteiles are of the material of the skirt and intended to be worn over a shirt waist of another material. They fasten on to the belt in front and back, and, being all in one piece, they do not slip off the shoulder. The dress is a becoming one and very sensible. The skirt should be untrimmed, unless for a row of braid, velvet ribbon or a fold of the material about the edge, while the breteiles may be adorned similarly.

ATTRACTIVE COSTUME FOR GIRLS.

Fancy Belts.

Fancy belts are made of soft leather or of silk. Those of plain kid are sometimes shaped at the back or ornamented with tiny gilt buttons, the buckle or clasp being also of gilt. Belts of silk webbing, studded with steel beads, are closed with jeweled buckles and slides and are equally smart in black, white and colored. Japanese leather is greatly favored, and Pompadour and Dresden silks produce charming results.

Concerning Sashes.

Empire reception and house gowns have long ribbon ends floating from under the short waists and high belts both at front and back. These and many of the sashes have a soft knot tied near the end of the streamer. Sometimes another loop like loop or end is set in so that it appears to be tied and giving weight to the ribbons.
